

How do I begin to describe the hole in my heart big enough to swallow entire cities?

Crochet hooks work endlessly, and tendons

weaving together veins

I used to play in the scorched earth,

Her wide chasms threatening to swallow me whole

Now I'm afraid that I've become the one Threatening to swallow someone

whole