

Songs of Medusa No. 4

G: on highest part of Q4 - scrape fingernails in a pushing and pulling motion in between strings.

is that you always think about it you never stop thinking about it

(as) abruptly

X l.v.

plucky/strum
any mid-low string

you feel that many hands underneath your skin

sf =

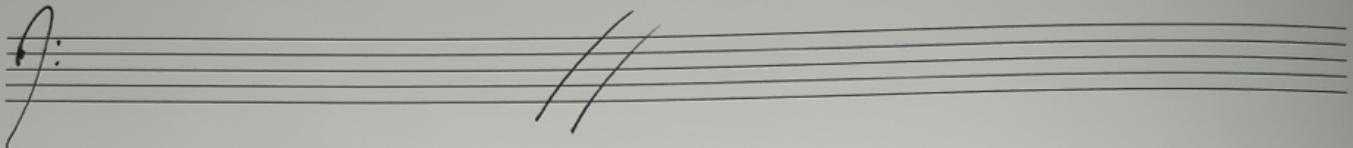

RH: harp-like gliss on low strings

LH: up + down pushing and pulling with nails between the strings → growing faster in high/mid low range of Q3/4

fingertips pressing and clawing their way out

LH: scrape down/towards you on one mid-low string very slowly. This should sound like a door creaking & fingernails on a chalkboard.

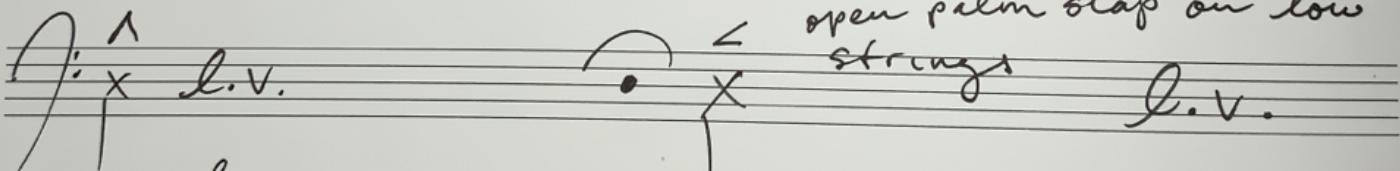

simply indifferent matter of fact more interested from just below no one else but you do the surface see this part

simply
and others tell you "you need to see a therapist"

laugh in disbelief, mocking dry down "you need to see a therapist"

pluck random string
ad-lib laugh disbelief, spoken on pitch
and say what?

f my ff
low scraping start fast drag nails
then slow down horizontally across strings in a strumming motion as if dying off l.v.

Singing into the piano *

40 ♫ . #. #. m
that you feel his hands cra — wling

bird talons ra — King u — pon skin ad lib. exult

the cold of the blade you can almost
feel against your neck
fff

lv.

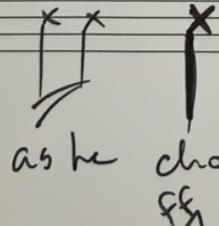

open palm
slap

that you still feel the vertebrae splitting in two

thumbnail on dead zone
slow and clunky

extremely slow scraping
across lowest string in Q4 → should be choppy

yelled ff

as he chopped your head off
ff

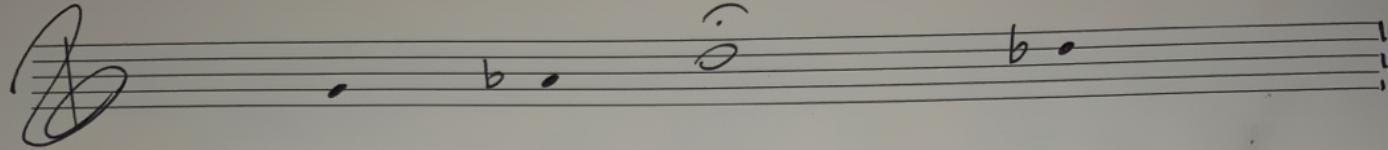

l.v.

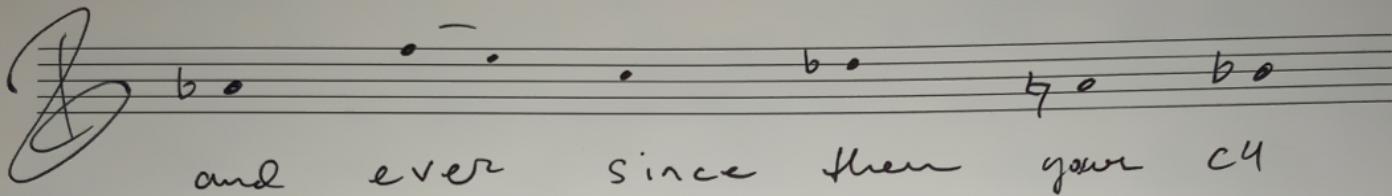

ARCHIVES™
D&S Steve

(and silently)

*place objects freely onto piano strings Q4 before "cold of the blade"

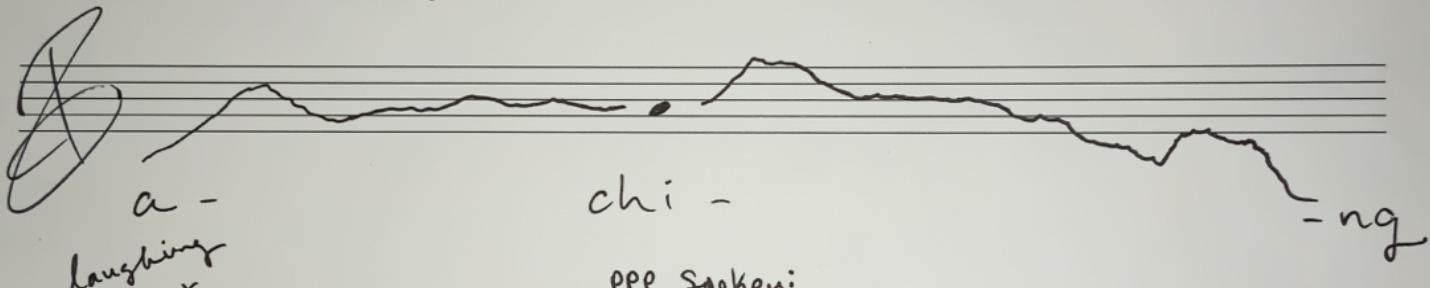

in your sleep

and ever since then your c4

just hasn't stopped

a -

chi -

- ng

laughing

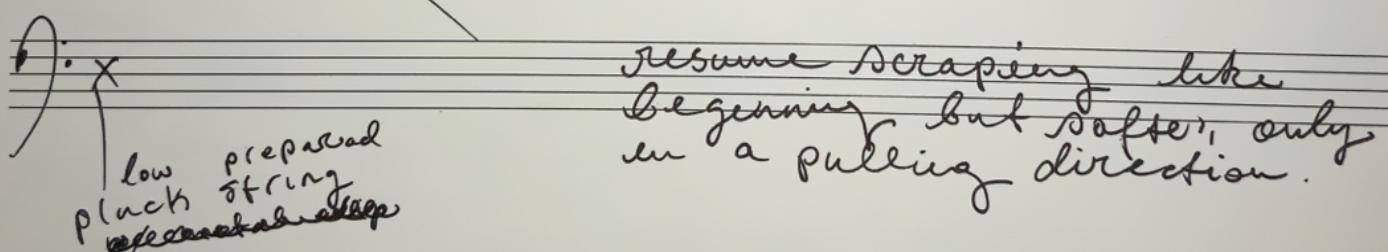

ppp spoken

yeah. That might be a little bit less about
the recovery process

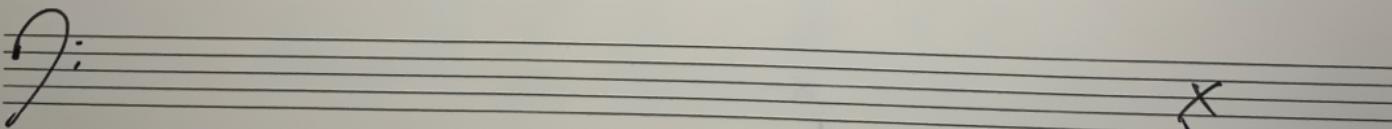

resume scraping like
beginning but softer, only

in a pulling direction.

and a little but
more about the fact that your head was
chopped off.

ARCHIVES™
DGS-8 Staff

low open palm
smack